'Straight-line' winds hit Waterford like a twister

By ALISON ALOISIO

"It looked like the trees got a hair-cut."

That's how Bob Moxcey described his North Waterford neighborhood after Monday's violent thunderstorm.

Moxcey was sitting on the couch in his Route 118 trailer when the severe storm hit late in the afternoon.

"I've lived in the South, and I've never seen wind like that," he said. "I bet it blew 70 miles an hour."

Moxcey had left the door to the trailer open. When the wind started blowing and the hail hit, he decided he better close it.

But, "the hail was hitting so hard it beat me back. I couldn't close the door. When the storm was over, the hail was piled up all the way back inside," he said. "Falling limbs hit the trailer, too."

When Moxcey checked outside after the storm, he found pieces of leaves stuck all over the outside of the trailer. It was also peppered with dents from the marble-sized hailstones.

Tuesday morning, Moxcey was out raking a heavy coating of green leaves in his yard. A smell like freshly-cut grass was heavy on the air.

"There won't be many leaves to rake this fall," he said.

A few miles away on the Bisbee Town Road, Ellen Bernier was home with her daughter and grand-

Officials believe two fires in Grafton Notch were arson

By ALISON ALOISIO

Fire officials are investigating arson as the possible cause of two separate brush fires in Grafton Notch Friday.

The call for both fires came in around 3 p.m., according to Newry Fire Chief Tink Conkright. One burned about a quarter of an acre, the other a third.

"We had to lug water about two miles at first, from the East B Hill Road," said Conkright.

Local F.D. volunteer battling blazes in Oregon

By ALISON ALOISIO

Firefighter Randy Harrington, a member of the Newry and Bethel fire departments, is in Oregon helping fight that state's wildfires.

His mother, Suzi, said he left Aug. 16 and expects to be there another two weeks.

Harrington, 26, started out with night duty on a fire near Silver Lake, Ore. He's now fighting a fire in the Umatilla National Forest in the northeast part of the state.

"They're on from 4:30 in the morning until 10 at night," said Suzi.

Harrington went west with a group from the National Forest Service's North Conway, N.H. district.

"He had three hours notice to get from Bethel to Manchester," Suzi said.

She's heard from him a couple of times, but communications are limited, with the crews living in tents.

"He said the food is bad. Randy will eat anything, so it must be bad," she said.

Harrington has helped out in forest fires in other states in recent years. He's been to Idaho twice, and last summer fought the fire on Long Island.

Bethel residents blast possible post office move

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Terry Brooks predicted there would be a straw vote, and in the end he got not one, but two.

The first -- early in Monday evening's hearing on the location of the Bethel Post Office -- was about as overwhelming as they get. A few brave souls raised their hands to indicate they thought the Bethel Post Office could be moved from Main Street, but the overwhelming majority of those present wanted the post office to stay where it is.

The second vote came near the end of the two-hour meeting. The crowd had thinned out somewhat, and the vote to keep the post office on Main Street was virtually unanimous.

The message from the two votes was clear, but it is uncertain what effect it will have on the final decision by the United States Postal Service.

The feelings of townspeople will be "a factor" said Brooks, a real estate specialist for the USPS, but ... to close it off in the middle of what has transpired would be grossly unfair. We'll listen to a proposal from Mr. Glidden.'

site of the former Kennett Realty office at the intersection of Main and Spring streets.

Both sites are potentially "viable," Brooks said, but the issue now is time. The deadline for the original Request for Proposals is long past, and Brooks has said the USPS needs to make a decision "in the immediate future."

But he has left "immediate" undefined, and on Tuesday he seemed to leave the door open for at least one more proposal to be developed.

"We can't drag it on forever," he said, "but to close it off in the middle of what has transpired would be grossly unfair. We'll listen to a proposal from Mr. Glidden. We won't give him an inordinate amount of time, but he says he's getting right on it."

Jets dropping in at Col. Dyke

By ALISON ALOISIO

Bethel International Jetport? Not quite, but recent jet landings and proposed runway lights are taking the Bethel airport a step beyond its traditional image as a country landing strip.

The landing of a Citation V jet 10 days ago caused quite a stir.

"People looked up, and it was something unusual to see. Quite a few of them came over to look," said Dave Rugoletti, flight instructor for Bethel Air Service.

The Citation is an eight-seat business jet -- a little smaller than a Lear jet.

Rugoletti said the jet used about 2,500 feet of the 3,150-foot runway to stop.

That compares to about 600 feet for a single-engine plane and 1,500 for a turboprop (two jet engines running propellers).

The jet was shuttling people from Massachusetts to a meeting, Rugoletti said. Another Citation landed in May, when a mother and son flew in to visit Gould Academy.

Improvements are underway to keep up with the increasing demand for airport usage. The area in front of the hangars will be paved shortly -- a step that's badly needed, Rugoletti said.

THE REAL BETHEL STATION--An internally lit, plastic model of the original Bethel Station was presented last week to the Bethel Historical Society by James Auman of Warren, N.J. Auman, who has always been interested in model railroads and in New England railroads in particular, got the idea to build the model from John Davis, a volunteer at the Gorham (N.H.) Historical Society. Auman also built a model of the Gorham station. He started work on the Bethel model last fall, after doing research and studying photos of the station, built in 1865. Davis also contacted John Ames, who had worked in the original station, to get a description of its interior.

Editorial

... as others see us

Those of us in the print biz know better than to take too much public delight in our colleagues' occasional blunders. It's a matter of simple self-preservation: if you gloat over someone else's howler, you're sure to follow up with a screamer of your own.

It's as inevitable as death and typos.

So we won't.

But we will note for our readers that the issue of SKI Magazine currently on the stands has an article on Bethel, complete with a front-cover teaser: "Ski Town Living in Bethel, Maine."

It's worth checking out -- if only to give the gang something to talk about the next time they gather to tip back a few cold ones at the Bag & Bottle (wherever that is). --MRD

Letters

MERRILL SHOULD WITHDRAW

To the Editor:

The following is an excerpt from a letter to the editor that appeared in the Bethel Citizen in January 1994 a few weeks prior to the vote on swapping town land for a new town garage. It was written by Heine Merrill, president of Bethel Station Limited, and I quote, "The fabric of the existing business community will be kept intact and supported by the additional traffic of the new Bethel Station with the train and parking. The Post Office, Banks and other businesses will be encouraged to stay in place."

Recently, at a public hearing on the possible relocation of the post office, Mr. Merrill stated that he had been asked to submit a proposal because none of the proposals submitted by other developers met the criteria of the U.S. Postal Service.

It now appears likely that new proposals will be submitted to the postal service which would keep the post office where it is or another which would move it to the corner of Main and Spring streets. Both these options appear to be very viable alternatives to moving it outside the downtown area.

Assuming Mr. Merrill meant what he wrote in January 1994, it would be right, honorable, and completely appropriate for him to withdraw his proposal to the U.S. Postal Service.

REMEMBERING 'PERK'

To the Editor:

The Bethel Historical Society has lost a dedicated member with the death last week of Ernest "Perk" Perkins. Few had a better attendance record at monthly meetings, until he became ill and was unable to attend. He researched and presented a program on the history of Mason Street where he lived for many years. As a long-time member of the Program Committee, he usually brought some item to stump those present as to its use or purpose for the annual "What's It" Night, one of his favorite programs. For years, he portrayed Dr. Mason at society events and celebrated his genealogical connections to the Mason family.

Some found him difficult to know; some thought he was remote and even gruff. I never believed this. I well remember in the late 1950s as a telephone repairman that he took delight in cutting my mother and Millie Jackson off every chance he could when he was repairing their lines. They were frequent callers and Perk was convinced they spent too much time on the phone, so anyone he could frustrate them he did. They in turn would give him grief at every opportunity, but it was all done with a sense of humor.

I will miss Perk at society meetings and all his dedicated service to the organization. I also can still see the wry grin that creased his face every time I asked him to describe his role as a self-appointed regulator of long-winded telephone conversations, particularly those involving my mother and Millie Jackson.

THANK YOU, BETHEL

To the Editor:

We have spent the past several months working and living in Bethel while we were studying the Androscoggin River and related issues. At the outset, we were unsure what to expect from our summer, but from the beginning we experienced warm hospitality and friendliness from everyone we met. We particularly enjoyed the opportunity to participate in the Bethel Bicentennial pageant as members of the chorus. It was fun to meet so many different people and learn so much about the history of Bethel. We also hope that our presence and our research helped to generate additional interest in the Androscoggin River. We believe that Bethel is very fortunate to have such a beautiful natural resource within its community.

We would like to thank the community of Bethel for being so welcoming toward us this summer. There are too many people to recognize individually, but you know who you are. The experience we had was truly unforgettable and we appreciate the opportunity to have lived here. Bethel is certainly a special place and we know we'll be back!

LEVELING THE COMMON—Workers from Michael Mills' Landscaping of Rumford began Monday to prepare the northwest end of the Bethel common to receive more fill and a new covering of sod. The project, which is expected to cost up to $5,000, is intended to bring the area up closer to the level of the rest of the common, making it easier to establish and maintain the ice skating rink. Bethel voters approved the expenditure at June's Town Meeting. It is being managed by the Bethel Recreation Committee.

FROM THE

Bethel Town Office

The Androscoggin Valley of Governments (AVCOG) is sponsoring a second Household Hazardous Waste Collection Day. Last year's collection day was very successful and many towns participated. AVCOG provides technical support such as individualizing collection flyers for member towns. Member towns pay only the tipping fees for what is collected in their town. Last year, 35 households from Bethel participated.

Hazardous household products can be identified by reading labels. The key words are poison, corrosive, toxic, volatile, flammable, caution, danger or warning. The average household contains between three and ten gallons of such materials. These products should always be stored in their original containers and never be mixed with other chemicals.

The improper disposal of household hazardous wastes can cause problems for the entire community. These products should not be mixed with household garbage, burned, buried in a landfill, or poured down drains that connect with septic systems, storm drains or the waste water treatment plant. All such systems eventually contact and leach the ground water and end up drinking water. When disposed of improperly, hazardous wastes can poison people and animals, cause specific damage, pollute the soil, air, water and the soil.

The Hazardous Committee members are the official coordinators for Bethel. They will be available for questions and registration. All interested households must pre-register. The collection will be held at the Bethel Recycling Center on September 28. A detailed list of hazardous material to be collected will be published in the near future. Please stay posted for more detailed information.

DEMS STIFF G.O.P.

By MIKE BROWN

Is this fall's special legislative session really necessary? And who knows for whom the Maine forest bill will toll after November?

Three public hearings on a "competitive measure" forestry bill were to be held this week in Lewiston, Augusta and Presque Isle with legislative committee members receiving $55 a day plus up to $70 a day in expenses. When the 186 legislators arrive in Augusta on Sept. 5 for a special session they will each receive $100 a day plus $70 for expenses.

Gov. Angus King and a majority of Democrats hope for a short, perhaps two-day, session. They will have to compromise with the Republican controlled Senate if that is to happen. The Governor has no authority over the legislation and which must adjourn with the agreement of both House and Senate majority votes.

The Republicans had previously wanted no clutter surrounding the special session, that is, other bills on other subjects besides the forestry competing measure bill. Apparently that was so much political rhetoric because the Republicans threw considerable bill chaff at the legislative council which met last week to vote on bill requests.

The council must approve all bills, except the governor's (which the competing measure bill is) before they can be introduced to the full legislature.

There were 18 bills submitted to the ten member, partisan-split council. Fifteen were sponsored by R's and three by D's. Eight bills failed to pass, five were tabled and three withdrawn. Only two bills passed, both Democrat sponsored: D-Sen. Richard (Spike) Carey's LR 3237, an act to amend the law concerning tax increment financing which would assist acquisition efforts to maintain operations at the Hathaway shirt plant in Waterville; D-Rep. George Kerr's LR 3233, an act that will conform Maine's law to the federal law concerning the change in the federal minimum wage.

The R's didn't fare very well because it would have taken six votes, not five, to pass a request bill.

Some of the R-losers were Sen. Joel Ahromson's bill to create a new assistant district attorney position for Cumberland County (AG Drew Keiter said he would fill that position from his own office.) Also Rep. Alvin Barth's bill, which was tabled, to fully reimburse municipalities for property taxes lost due to the Maine Tree Growth Tax Law in 1996. R-Sen. Norman Ferguson had requested a similar bill which lost on a 5-5 vote.

R-Sen. Dana Hanley, who is co-chair of the appropriations committee, wanted a bill that provided legislative oversight of the state government accounting reserves. It lost 5-5.

R-Sen. Joan Pendexter, who is the Senate chair of the Human Resources Committee, wants to change the DHS confidentiality laws so that legislative committees can have more access to recipient and patient records. This bill resulted in the circumstances surrounding a death and other problems at the Augusta Mental Health facility. It failed on a 5-5 vote. Also, R-Rep. Jim Libby's tax exemption bills on hay sales, and D-Rep. Marge Kilkelly's tax exemptions for non-profit ambulance companies, were tabled.

R-Sen. Albert Stevens of Sabattus requested a resolve to suspend operation of the DeCoster egg farms waste water disposal system in Leeds until it meets environmental permit requirements. It failed 5-4.

For many legislators returning for the special session, it will be their last hoot and hurrumph because of retirement, voluntary and term-limited involuntary. Hopefully, they will not get carried away with homesteading sentiment and decide to stay a while. (Veteran newsman and columnist Mike Brown writes regularly on the Augusta political scene. His views are his own and do not necessarily reflect those of The Citizen.)

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

The 31st annual meeting of the Bethel Historical Society will be held on Thursday, Sept. 5, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The president will review the past year since the last annual meeting, there will be a report from the Nominating Committee, and the 1996 Noll Award for Volunteer Service will be made.

A potluck supper will be held beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the meeting room. Those attending the supper are asked to bring a hot dish, salad or dessert.

Speaker for the evening will be Dr. Joseph Conforti, director of the American and New England Studies Program at the University of Southern Maine, who will speak on the 18th century towns of northern New England in honor of Bethel's bicentenary. Dr. Conforti holds a Ph.D. from Brown University and is the author of a number of books and articles on New England history.

To date more than $3,500 has been raised from over 150 donors for the 1996 Bethel Historical Society Annual Fund Campaign. Among the most recent contributors are: Linona Blake, West Paris, in memory of Clayton L. Blake; Lee and Judith Carroll Gorham, N.H., in memory of Alton F. and Mary C. Carroll; Gordon and Mary Schenck, New Iberia, La., in memory of Mary Orinda Wight; Barbara and Roland Crocker, Riverside, R.I., in memory of Wallace and Linda Crocker.

LOOKING BACK

10 years ago: The Bethel Women's Softball team captured the Oxford County women's softball crown. Members of the team included Becky Cummings, Cindy Wheeler (co-captain), Berta Smith (co-captain), Jackie Guinnion, Sheri Kendall, Brenda Packard, Donna Dore, Joene Nakamura, Betty Kappes, Debbie Wheeler, Paul Berry, Launetta Viles, Lois Grant and French Wagner Cummings. Tom and Curtis Patcher were the new owners of the Hallowell Vikings. Seventy-seven members and guests attended the Berry reunion, hosted by Ed and Helen Berry at the Pine Cliff Inn in Newry.

20 years ago: Tammy Lawrence, Tolar Regional High School teacher, was selected by the Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Leaders in Elementary and Secondary Education Award. Applications for membership in the 1976 edition of "Our Outstanding Leaders in Elementary and Secondary Education Award" were due.

The Sunday River School was designated as the Town News' Bicentennial Project under the direction of Mrs. Frances Baker, Barbara Benner, Twila Benjamin, Adams, Edna C. Brewer, Death, Alice Hart.

30 years ago: A Leotring sash machine was approved by a secret vote of 120 to 1 at a special Bethel Town Meeting. Frederick Rogers assumed the principalship of Bethel elementary schools. The Bethel of the Nazarene, Charles Street, Bethel, was undergoing extensive repairs and renovations. Bath, Shelley, Benney, Marriages, Carol Twitchell and Richard Berry Deaths: John Deegan, Walter Bryant, Alfred Bedell.

40 years ago: A new building for storage of town clerk and other town records was completed at the rear of the Bethel Community Room. The Gould Academy student activity fee for local students was $12 for the academic year and could be paid in three equal installments of $4 each term. Births: Shelia Small, Sherry Learned, Marriage: Carol Twitchell and Richard Berry Deaths: Laura McKeen.

50 years ago: The Bethel Community Flower Show, held at the Community Room, listed first-place winners in various categories as follows: Mrs. Peter Schutt, Mrs. Norris Brown, Mrs. Sherman Greenleaf, (children's bouquets); Carla Grover, David Kneeland and Howard Donahue; Mrs. Earl Davis, Mrs. Lawrence Lord, and Mrs. William Van Busbeck. Barry York, Carlton Brown, Billy Penner, Richard Littlefield, Skippy Larson, Jon Ward and Laura Wilson were attending Camp Mechuwana in Winthrop. H.A. "Phon" Brown purchased the Rainbow Tea Room in Bryant Pond (now The Village Store).

100 years ago: Improvements were being made to S.D. Philbrook's house (now Philbrook Place) on lower Main Street. The Republican County Committee met at Odeon Hall. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was being performed under the tent near the village at Bethel Hill. McKinley and Hobart flags were flying on Main Street in support of the Republican candidates for President and Vice President of the United States. Ellery C. Park spoke on behalf of the Republican party at a rally, with the Bryant Pond Band providing music to a capacity crowd in Odeon Hall. A McKinley Club in Bethel was being organized.

Briefly

Parents warned of bus danger

BETHEL--Plastic balls on the end of jacket strings can be dangerous to children riding the school bus, according to SAD44 transportation supervisor Sonny Blake. The balls can get hooked on the bus stair rail as the child exits the bus, and if the driver is unaware of it, the child could be dragged after the door closes and the bus starts up. "Eight kids have been killed in the United States by catching strings," Blake said. While SAD44 bus rails have been retrofitted to greatly lessen the danger, he said parents might still be advised to cut the balls off the strings.

Graduation back to Friday

BETHEL--Graduation for the Class of 1997 will be held on a Friday night after all, following a third survey of class members. Superintendant Ron Jenkins said there was a good response to the August poll. The results showed students favored Friday by about two to one. In June the School Board changed the day to Sunday, but objections by students and parents prompted the school administration to reconsider the move.

Catch Greenwood assessor Thursday

GREENWOOD--The town's assessor will be at the Greenwood Town Office on Thursday, Aug. 29 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., according to Town Manager Liz Lavalette. A representative from John O'Donnell and Associates will be available to answer questions regarding assessments. People may call for an appointment or call and talk with him by phone, Lavalette said.

Greenwood Days planned

GREENWOOD--A baked bean supper, dance, craft sale, flea market and bingo game will be featured as part of the Greenwood Days festival on Sept. 7 and 8. The supper and dance will take place Saturday evening at 5:30 at the American Legion Hall. The craft sale will be Sunday from 9 to 2 in the Gilbert Manufacturing parking lot, while the Bingo game will be from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Legion Hall. Participating organizations include the fire department and ladies' auxiliary, recreation committee, historical society, American Legion and Locke Mills Union Church. Town Manager Liz Lavalette said organizers hope the festival will become an annual event. It coincides with Channel 13's Awesome Auto Tour, which will pass through on Route 26. Lavalette said local owners of antique autos are invited to park their cars in Gilbert's parking lot in observance of the tour.

Alder Brook Bridge is safe

GREENWOOD--An MDOT engineer reported to selectmen that the Alder River Bridge in Locke Mills is structurally sound and the only work needed are minor repairs and the addition of guard rails. There had been concerns that the bridge was unsafe, and could pose liability problems for the town. Engineer Gary Hoar also said that the exit from the bridge on the Howe Hill Road side has been relocated and is now on private property. If the town wants to allow traffic over the structure, he recommended that an agreement of right of way be made with property owners. Selectmen planned to contact owners and abutters regarding an agreement, and will go ahead with the minor repairs.

Flyin' Monkey comes to Oz

NEWRY--Sunday River Ski Resort has added a third double-diamond glade to the area known as "Oz." The new glade is part of a $1.5-million capital investment program at the mountain. Other improvements include a 16 percent increase in lift capacity of the Jordan Bowl lift and eight townhouses at the Locke Mountain development. Sunday River also purchased three grooming machines, replaced its ski rental inventory and installed a new telecommunications system to improve the reservations process.

Adult store is legal

OXFORD--Area residents unhappy with a recently opened adult book and video store are unable to take any action against the business because the town does not currently have an obscenity ordinance. First Amendment Adult Book and Video opened this month in a building previously occupied by Top Video on Route 26. Town selectmen decided to ignore the presence of the store for now, with the idea that it may not stay in business if the community does not support it. But employee Richard Lewis said business has been quite steady.

Good deed gets man jail time

PORSCOMOUTH--A homeless man who found more than $5,000 at a motel and turned it into police has been sentenced to six months in jail for violating probation. A York County Superior Court judge ruled that John Chick violated probation when he dropped out of an alcohol treatment program in Portland. Chick, 28, was on probation for breaking into a car in Kittery, in February 1995. Staying in the treatment program was a condition of his release from jail. Chick's lawyer said Chick stayed in the program for two months but dropped out when he moved to Portsmouth. Before his arrest, Chick said he had tried but failed to get into a similar program in Portsmouth. It was on the day Chick said he found a large sum of money that his luck seemed to be turning around. After stumbling upon the cash atop a pay phone at the Holiday Inn last week, Chick turned it into police because, he said, "I wanted to do the right thing." The day he turned in the money, Chick found out he had been accepted into a treatment program in Bangor. But it was also the day that an arrest warrant was issued in Maine. The next day, when the story of his good deed appeared in the media, authorities caught up with him. Chick will serve out his six-month sentence at the York County Jail in Alfred. With time off for good behavior, Van Houten said, Chick might be out in time for Christmas.

Skier gets injury settlement

SHERBURNE, Vt.--A federal jury has awarded a Rhode Island man $78,000 for injuries he received in a skiing accident at Killington. A recent verdict found Daniel Rice, 31, and the Sherburne ski area equally negligent in an accident that happened when Rice hit snowmaking pipes at the edge of a trail in January 1994. The jury set the damages amount at $156,000; Rice will receive half under their calculations. According to the lawsuit, Rice was skiing at Killington on Jan. 11, 1994 when he hit the pipes. Court documents indicate the accident left Rice with several torn ligaments in his knee and required five surgeries in the year following the accident that have failed to completely return his knee to full function. His attorney, William McCarty, said that he was pleased with the outcome of the case. "I won," McCarty said. "Killington and the whole ski industry thinks they can't do anything wrong. They denied any liability whatsoever. We're finally starting to get some juries who are seeing that the ski industry isn't as safe as they say, or sovereign."

A chocolate high?

NEW YORK--Chocolate contains substances that might mimic the effects of marijuana, boosting the pleasure you get from eating the sweet, researchers say. The ingredients might make the texture, smell and flavor of chocolate more enjoyable and combine with other ingredients like caffeine to make a person feel good, researcher Daniela Piomelli speculated. "We are talking about something much, much, much, much milder than a high," said Piomelli, a researcher at the Neurosciences Institute of San Diego. But a researcher who studies the brain chemistry of marijuana said chocolate contains such low levels of the ingredients Piomelli identified that he doubts they have any effect. Christian Felder of the National Institute of Mental Health estimated that a 130-pound person would have to inject the equivalent of 25 pounds of chocolate in one sitting to get any marijuana-like effect.

School Board sets pay range for new Supt.

By ALISON ALOISIO

SAD44 is prepared to pay from $59,500 to $63,000 for a new superintendent.

The School Board Monday recommended that salary range as a guide for the superintendent search committee. The committee will seek a successor to Ron Jenkins, who plans to leave for a new position on Oct. 1.

The board also recommended a benefits package of $5,500. Jenkins' current salary is $57,834, while his insurance benefits are $5,500.

The board held an hour-long executive session prior to voting for the salary range. Directors had been told by Maine School Management representatives last week that the available pool of superintendents has dwindled in recent years, and they should expect to pay more than Jenkins' salary.

The eight board members who will make up the search committee were also announced Monday. They are: Debbie Gilbert and David Langlois of Newry; Margaret Hand, T.L. Magee and Marcel Polak of Woodstock; John Brown and Debra Dohrmann of Bethel; and Kelly Scott of Andover.

The board decided not to include any staff or community members on the committee, but will seek their input on attributes to look for in a candidate. Directors have left open the option of hiring an interim superintendent if they are not satisfied with the applicants.

Bethel resident Harry "Dutch" Dresser, in a letter to chairman Marcel Polak, urged the board to hire an interim superintendent to allow more people to participate in the search process.

"One of them (an interim) could surely shepherd SAD44 through the current year at the same time that he/she helped the district define its needs through a process which included conversation from all of the district's many constituent groups -- from citizens and parents to teachers and administrators," Dresser wrote.

"The chances for success through such a process far outstrip the chances that a small group can quickly identify and retain a superintendent early this fall who is both qualified and positioned to lead the district through the next years of its development."

Jenkins to Calais

Jenkins has accepted a position as superintendent for Maine Indian Education, with responsibility for approximately 650 K-8 students.

He will be based in Calais and will oversee education for three reservations -- one Penobscot and two Passamaquoddy.

He notified the SAD44 School Board on Aug. 12 of his resignation.

From the Bethel Police log:

At 3:25 p.m. on Aug. 24 a Bethel resident reported his wife had slapped him around, and he requested the incident be on record. The man had a black eye and was advised he could file for a restraining order. He declined.

Friday, Aug. 23

At 12:54 a.m. a caller reported that an intoxicated subject was operating a pickup truck. Police located him on Main Street and gave him sobriety tests. He did not do well, but was known to have difficulties for medical reasons. He agreed to a blood alcohol level test, and tested under the legal limit. The subject said he had smoked a portion of marijuana. He was released and no charges were filed.

Sunday, Aug. 25

At 1:46 a.m. an anonymous female reported a loud party on Main Street. The officer was able to hear the music clearly from the street. He told the apartment owner to turn it down, and that he could be charged with disorderly conduct if police were called again.

At 4:05 a.m. the Oxford County Sheriff's Office reported a possible domestic dispute on Route 2 in West Bethel. A woman called 911 saying she was going to beat up her husband. Police responded to the residence and met with the man, who said his extremely intoxicated wife had made the call. He did not want to make a complaint. The officer spoke to the wife and found her to be very intoxicated. She rambled on about him taking the kids away. He was apparently bringing them over to his mother's house because his wife was in no condition to care for them. He left, and his wife left on foot.

Monday, Aug. 26

At 2:45 a.m. a Main Street resident reported the bells at the train crossing were causing an annoyance. Police contacted the train engineer and found the train had to stop and wait for a replacement crew. The officer asked that they shut off the signal until the crew arrived, and they did so.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies. An answering machine takes calls when an officer is not in the office.

SEPTEMBER ALMANACK QUIZ

By NATALIE TIMBERLAKE

Opening the September 1796 page today reminded me of one of the chief reasons for following the 1796 almanac during our bicentennial year: to try a bit harder to get onto the threads of what made those early Massachusetts/Maine settlers "tick." Following these time markers as their year unfolded we can imagine our early neighbors getting news from their old home about who may have been in court; how long the orator spoke at the commencement; whether Uncle Ezekiel's "boy" made it to graduate; how much farther ahead the crops were back home; and so on. As we enter September, we are closing in on the event which would, in time, bring Rev. Gould from Massachusetts. That event was the establishment of the Congregational Church which will be observing its Bicentennial on the weekend of Sept. 6-8.

Now our September 1796 quiz:

- This month celebrates several saints. The first four questions are about them.
- Which saint made a writing contribution, and what was it?
  - Which saint was one of the Four Apostles?
  - Which saint was an archangel?
  - Which was a hermit?
  - Why were college commencements announced in the Almanack?
  - The Dudleian Lecture rated being on the schedule and having a footnote. What was the source of the name, and its importance?
  - Where and when was C.C.P. being held in the district of Maine?
  - What group is back from summer break? (A free one!)
  - Looking at the court schedule for the 13th, how many judges would have been needed? Why do you think so?

Now my responses to my questions for August:

- Lammas Day, Aug. 1, 1796 celebrated the ripening of the corn harvest.
- A non-mathematician could tell the time of day by his sundial on the 31st because "Sun and clock were near together." -- No Sun Slow or Sun Fast to figure.
- On the 23rd, the C.C.P. was sitting in the town of Waterborough (Waterboro, 1768). Alfred (1794) connects to present-day Waterboro by a road named Federal Street.
- Dartmouth College was having commencement on the 25th.
- King Philip was implacable because he believed a treaty made between Massasoit and Gov. Carver in 1621 was not effective against the increasing numbers of white settlers who had moved into Wampanoag territory and hunting grounds. He had personal grievance because of their treatment of his older brother and chief, Alexander, which led to Alexander's death.
- Mt. Hope, where King Philip was killed, is in present state of Rhode Island.
- King Philip's head was brought back to Plymouth because the treaty between the Pilgrims and the Wampanoags had been signed there, in 1621.
- King Philip was the younger son to Massasoit, the chief who had entered the treaty with the Pilgrims.
- The Artillery was the group taking summer break.

vantages of the present site or questioned the USPS's rationale for requiring more work and parking space.

The present site is "walking friendly," said Kathy Hooke, and especially convenient for the elderly. A number of other speakers reiterated that point, and Dot Murphy argued the post office is not just a post office, but also a social gathering place for seniors.

Rockie Graham characterized the trip by foot from Bethel village to Bethel Station as "a very dangerous walk."

Others argued the postal facility was essential to the economic health of the village.

"I think the post office is pivotal to the success, to the preservation, of the downtown business area as the Bethel Station Project flourishes," said selectman Dutch Dresser.

A number of other speakers said there was already plenty of parking space -- often noting that they themselves had never encountered problems finding a place nearby to park.

In regard to interior work-space requirements, others contended that if Newry mail were handled in Newry, not Bethel, less space would be needed in Bethel, and a number of post-office boxes would be freed up.

But Brooks and fellow USPS representative Mike O'Leary (both veterans of a number of such meetings) stuck by the USPS requirements.

O'Leary, for example, acknowledged that eliminating Newry mail would have some impact on space needs in Bethel, "but would it have enough impact to affect the size of the building in Bethel? No, it wouldn't."

And Brooks defended the parking requirements of the original RFP. "We know from experience that we are going to need parking," he said. "Wrong as it may be, how many times have we stood in front of a post office or at the Maine Mall, watching people do circles to go and find a place closest to that door."

Faced with criticism that the USPS was ignoring the feelings of its customers, Brooks pointed out that in the case of the Bethel Post Office, "we've been to three times the meetings we ordinarily attend."

But it was clear Monday that no amount of meetings would convince these residents that relocating the post office was warranted.

Sonny Bean said the USPS has argued the center of the village is moving. "But," he said to much laughter, "I've lived here 63 years and it hasn't moved an inch."

And Dot Murphy wasn't sure the present building needs to be replaced. It could "come under the grandfather clause," she argued. "I don't care what the architect says. That building does look rocky - there's no question about that -- but aluminum siding would cover a multitude of sins."

(Monday evening's post office discussion was part of the Bethel selectmen's meeting and will be broadcast in its entirety on Channel IV, Friday at 7 p.m. The videotape of the meeting is available for viewing in the Adult-Ed Office, but please call ahead.)

into the brush piles, because the fire had burned down into the ground.

Conkright said the forest service is investigating the blazes. "Generally piles of brush out in the woods don't start burning by themselves," he said. "We've ruled out electrical as the cause."

Authorities have a suspect, and have issued a be-on-the lookout for his vehicle.

A fire last year on Table Rock was also termed suspicious, and a man was seen leaving the area shortly after it started. Conkright declined to comment on whether the two incidents were believed to be related.

Friday's fires come at a time when the woods are dry, following little rain in August.

Monday was a Class 3 day for fire danger, on a scale of one to five. While the danger is less than it was last summer, Conkright said people should use caution and obtain permits if they plan to burn.

"Another week (of dry weather) and it could be fairly serious," he said.

Conkright said some people may not realize the current fire danger because the early part of the summer was so wet.

"but would it affect the Bethel? No, I wanted the parking original RFP, experience that we're looking," he said.

So they rode it out in the house. "We just listened to the sound of the storm," she said.

Afterwards, they went outside to have a look around. "I said, 'It looks like there's something not quite right with the garage,'" Bernier said.

Sure enough, the garage had blown to one side and collapsed like a one-story house of cards. At one end, the tailgate of her husband Lou's pickup truck was just visible in the doorway opening.

He had moved the garage, in pieces, from the former Hanover Dowel Mill in Bethel a year before. Now it was in pieces again.

Tuesday morning, there was still hail next to Bernier's front steps. "It was three inches deep yesterday," she said. "Last night, it was cold here from the hall. And you couldn't see anything, because of the fog from it."

As Bernier talked, the phone in the garage rang. "I guess I won't get it there," she said.

Her cocker spaniel, Sandy, seemed to be affected by the intense storm. "The dog's been funny all day. She stays close to me," Bernier said.

The wind was termed "straight-line wind" by the National Weather Service, as opposed to that of a tornado. Damage was confined to a several-square-mile area of North Waterford.

Huge trees were down all over. "The smell of fresh pine was everywhere," said Bernier.

Farther up the Bisbee Town Road, at the former Manley Kimball home, a tree fell through the rear of the house. Out front, a pine tree more than two feet in diameter broke off just above the ground.

The roof of a building at Grover Lumber Co. on Route 118 blew off, ending up a hundred feet away near the Crooked River.

Windows broke in several buildings, including the North Waterford Congregational Church, which has been undergoing renovations.

But a few miles east, at Papoose Pond Camping Area, damage was confined to a camper awning. "There was a lot of wind, but no trees were down," said Gretchen Strauss, wife of the area's manager.

Power to the North Waterford area was also knocked out for several hours.

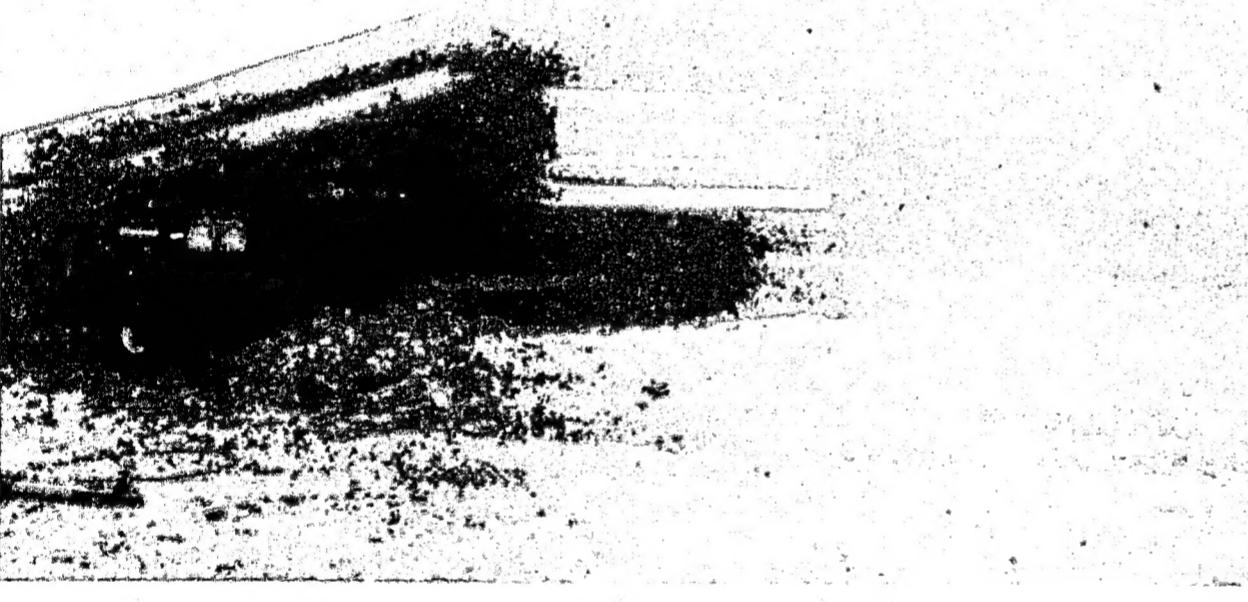

More possible storms were in the forecast for Tuesday afternoon. But Bernier said she's had enough.

"I don't want to do it again," she said.

A meeting of those interested in information regarding the new kindergarten class and other topics of Andover Elementary School will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 3 at 7 p.m. at the school.

Friends and family of former residents Susan and Roger Jones of Gray are invited to join the celebration of their 25th Wedding Anniversary. The party, intended to be a surprise, will be held at the home of Betty and Alex Beauchesne at 264 East Andover Road on Saturday, Aug. 31 from 2 to 4 p.m. Dolly Jones and Betty Beauchesne are the hostesses for the get-together.

The Andover Service Circle will be holding its first meeting for the fall on Sept. 10 at 7 p.m. at the Public Library. Anyone interested in joining the group, which exists for the purpose of assisting the community and its residents, should feel free to attend. If you have not been contacted by Sept. 1 regarding placing your names on the Service Circle's Community Birthday Calendar 1997, please contact Judy Michaud at 392-1221.

Ruth Brewster of Barre, Vt., visited several days with Dottie

Lang. The two traveled to Tenent's Harbor where Ruth visited with a friend. Dottie traveled on to Owl's Head and enjoyed several days' stay with former residents Marie and Bill Nuppla.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Farrington and her mother, Mrs. Lester White, have returned from Conyers, Ga., where they attended the wedding of their nephew Gregory Hall to Heather Parham. Also attending the wedding, traveling by air, were Lester White, grandfather of the groom and Scott Farrington, the groom's cousin. Gregory is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson Morton held a get-together at their home while Mrs. Idella Liosel of Orlando, Fla., was visiting. Among those attending were: Hanson Jr. and Lana Morton; John Morton and Erin Walker; Jeff and Dorothy Swan and children Rebecca and Doug; Cheryl Morton and David McKenna; Robert Morton and Kayla; Daniel and Pamela Chartier; Paula Merrill and Anthony Miecielle; Richard and Debbie Gauvin and children Marissa and Kyle; and Betsy Morton.

Get well wishes to John Richardson Sr. of North Rumford who underwent heart surgery recently at MMC in Portland. Also to Mrs. Agnes Porter, Mel Dow and Josh Hansen.

Hoping all enjoy the Labor Day holiday weekend.

News from little Rhode Island: Cheers to my nephew's son Chris Toti, the chairman of the Republican Party in Burrville, has just graduated from Fort Varnon, Narragansett. Not bad for a 32-year-old who just had his birthday last week. The whole family celebrated with him including his father and mother Carl II and Barbara; his brother Carl III; his sister Paula; Theresa his aunt; also another aunt, Lil; and other relatives and friends. A happy birthday to his brother Carl III on Aug. 30. He'll be 33 years old. Carl is an artist and works for the Providence Journal and Woonsocket Call.

Happy birthday to Sue Cross on Sept. 2nd. I surely hope that these happy birthday wishes will make your special day full of joy and good cheer!

Equality is the share of everyone at their advent upon earth, and equality is also theirs when placed beneath it. We are foolish, and without excuse foolish, in speaking of the superiority of one sex to the other, as if they could be compared in similar things! Each has what the other has not. Each completes the other. They are nothing alike. And the happiness and perfection of both depends on each asking and receiving from the other what the other only can give."

The historical society has pictures in its museum of such old Woodstock landmarks as the Old Opera House, Dearborn's Grove, Liverystable Blacksmith shop, Old Hotel, Quarry, Mineral Spring, Railroad Station and Stage, Coffin Factory, Birch Villa, Birchmere, Dreamhouse, Grange, the churches and Conservation Camp. They recall such famous people as the daughter of President Hayes, Gov. Sidney Perham, Bishop Kinsman, Capt. John Dearborn, author George Allan England, William Ellery, Gen. James Alger. There are exhibits relating to them in the museum. Someone pointed out recently that on an old town map, some small gold and silver mines were listed in Woodstock. Of course mining in Oxford County has been notable for years. The September meeting of the society will feature a film on the Woodstock Municipal complex. Curator Larry Billings recently gave his family an oil painting of the seashore to thank them for all their work at the historical society. Kathleen Bean and Barbara Hathaway watched the museum recently. Several people were in to visit. Larry Billings toured the Greenwood Historical Museum on Saturday and enjoyed seeing another town's exhibits.

Well, this summer sure passed by quickly. It seems only yesterday that my parents drove me home from college, but in reality it was three months ago. Next week, I will leave for Connecticut and my second year of school. This will be my last summer column, but my sister will be taking over full time as autumn begins.

Phil, Sonja and Lori Davis recently traveled to Essex Junction, Vt. to see Dawn Davis. Dawn has an apartment and is doing very well. On Monday, Lori and I had a nice visit outside. It was great to talk with her for a while.

Tammy and Bridget Billings, along with Irene Mills, enjoyed a trip to Fun Town where they were met by Betsy, Carly and Ross Cummings. This coming Sunday, I will be going to Melissa Etheridge's concert with Betsy. I can't wait!

Sue, Joelle and Errol Silver joined Louise Chapman for a nice weekend in Bangor, where they did a lot of shopping at the Bangor Mall. Joelle got some of her school shopping done.

I went to Mandy McInnis' house on Sunday and had a great visit with her. She was home from her summer job for the weekend.

I received a letter from Howard Smith, who grew up in North Woodstock. It was nice to hear from him. I wrote back the other day.

That's all from North Woodstock, and I hope everyone has a great autumn.

Sympathy goes out to the family and friends of Blanche Bean, who passed away this week.

Blanche was well known by everyone in this area and will be missed.

I went to visit my brother, Vernon Poland, at Ledgeview Nursing Home one late afternoon last week. Vernon's daughter Sherry was there and I always enjoy visiting with her. His wife Tommy was just arriving as I was leaving. She had been to a get-together of her family to honor Samantha Poland and Heath Poland who will be going away to college soon. Samantha will attend the University of Maine at Farmington and Heath will be going to Ohio. Best of luck.

I took my granddaughter, Jessie Hart, shopping in Lewiston today for a few school clothes. Jenny Record went along to help out. We all had lunch at McDonalds at the mall.

Brandy Poland has been babysitting for Lisa and Ricky Mack this summer. They have three girls, Megan, Randi and Jymie. I hear she does a good job.

My granddaughter, Sarah Hart, will be leaving to attend SMTC in South Portland next week. I took her down Monday to get her books and schedule. Terry Merrill went along to help lead the way to college. We had lunch at Captain Newicks. We all had a good time visiting and making plans.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson

There have been many yard sales in the area this past weekend and people have reported good business.

Abdul Traish, Aisha, Jaffer and Nawaf from Belmont, Mass. are enjoying a two weeks' vacation at their cottage at Lake Keweydin.

Joshua Johnson and David Wallace have been helping Frances Grant get her hay in for the winter.

Charlie Merrill has been busy mowing hay for people in Stoneham and surrounding areas.

Nat Mason has been doing some repair work at his camp at Keweydin Lake.

Ivan Curtis has been doing some repair work at his camp at Keweydin Lake.

Randy and Marylin Dean from Seekonk, Mass. are visiting Leslie and Gary Dean for a few days. Andrew and Ryan Dean are visiting their grandparents in Seekonk.

Wednesday, Aug. 28, the Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19 plan to meet at the K. of P. Hall here in Stoneham for their regular meeting. All members are needed. Please try to attend.

Two members of the DUV Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19, Joyce Gouin and Leslie Dean, attended the National Convention in St. Louis Aug. 7-14. There were six members from Maine who attended this convention.

Clyde Millett has been busy showing his steers at the fairs. They are beautiful animals and well trained. He always gets ribbons for them. Friday he will be taking six pairs of steers to Union then to Windsor. They have been to about five fairs already.

Camp Susan Curtis closed for the season last Saturday. It was reported that they had a good season. They are in the process of adding more buildings for more dining and craft space.

The Stoneham Rescue Service is putting on their annual Labor Day Breakfast on Sept. 1, from 7 to 10 a.m. Cost will be $4.50.

The Waterford Friendly Senior Citizens will meet on Wednesday, Sept. 4, at the North Waterford Congregational Church. There will be a business meeting at 11:30 a.m. and dinner at noon. Please bring a place setting. Following dinner, there will be a program followed by bingo.

Greenwood City

by Colista Morgan

At this time of year, in this valley full of trees, there is one maple by the wall which I own by seeing it. I watch color come to its leaves and see it change. By title it is not really mine, but as I take a choice of the many trees each autumn, I claim this one and will for as long as I remember. Its colors gradually change until one day in October its warmth of color is as brilliant as any flame that leaps from a hearth.

Autumn is the fulfillment time of nature's beauty. Over the hardwood forest there is a blanket of red, scarlet, brown, bronze and yellow. The sunrise is an exploding rocket of brilliant colors.

As I look over the valley, loveliness and peace are there. Here and there a special place on a hillside makes a gorgeous flaming bouquet.

Each hill has for me a special memory; birch swinging with Robert, sliding with Ann, picnicking with David and a fall into the brook with Mary. These will always remain.

Toward the end of the day, a little chill creeps in. The sunsets become brief, but they are painted in the sky. Pewter-gray shadows waltz down the hillsides. Stars prick through, as the dark veil crosses the heavens.

Those of us who see autumn change each year lack the adjectives to describe it. Maybe that is the highest of tributes. The color itself supplies its own acme.

Milton and Eleanor Inman joined others of the family, camping for the weekend.

There will be a barn on Farm Hill very soon. It grows each day.

The family of Rena Curtis was at her home for the weekend. They brought their trailers, their working materials and worked on the house and roof. The gathering numbered 40.

Carl Curtis was home from his work in Van Buren over the weekend.

Dot Betts was with her daughter in Connecticut for a few days last week.

David and Mary Holt were at the farm on Sunday. It was a busy day of haying.

FREE ROSES

On Wednesday, Sept. 4 the Unicorn Flower Shop will give away 1500 roses, in bunches of a dozen.

Those who take the roses are asked to keep one for themselves and give the remaining roses to 11 people, as a means of renewing friendships or meeting new people.

The flower distribution is part of "Good Neighbor Day," and is intended to help create a friendlier and more caring and compassionate world, according to Unicorn owner Ann Friedlander.

MENTORING PROGRAM FOR WOMEN IN BUSINESS

The Women's Business Development Corporation's Mentoring Program for beginning women business owners will be offered in three Maine communities this fall -- Ellsworth, Portland and Farmington. Classes will begin in October and the application deadline is Aug. 31.

The mentoring program provides start-up entrepreneurs, called proteges, with a mentor, opportunities for statewide networking with other WBDC members, and a six month business education program. The program introduces participants to business assistance specialists from the Small Business Development Centers, the University of Maine Cooperative Extension, as well as accountants, attorneys and bankers. Six all-day workshops, one each month, cover topics such as business planning, cash flow management, record keeping, taxes, marketing, financing, balancing home and business and goal setting.

Mentors are WBDC members who have been in business for at least five years, who are recognized as successful businesswomen, and year of college and are going into the field of teaching.

Applicants should submit a letter telling about their educational background, future plans, and why they feel they would be a good recipient. The deadline for letters of application is Sept. 20, 1996. Send applications to: Toni Hamlin, 8 Frederick Ave., South Paris, ME 04281.

TEACHING SCHOLARSHIPS

Delta Kappa Gamma is a society of women educators. One of the goals of the society is to help recognize women in education and promote professional growth.

Zeta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma will be awarding a $300 scholarship to one recipient this November. Applicants must be women who have completed their freshman who are willing to share their knowledge and to support a start-up business. Mentors agree to spend four hours per month offering advice and support.

For an application, call 947-5990.

An update on some visitors from the 1980s

Bethel residents may be interested to hear what became of a Laotian family who stayed for a time with Bob and Jane Grover, who formerly lived in Bethel.

In 1980 the Grovers sponsored the family to come to the United States. The mother, Kham Vene, was Jane's interpreter assistant when she and Bob were volunteers living and working in the country of Laos from 1966 to 1968.

When the Russians overran the country in 1975, Lao people who could, fled, leaving everything behind to avoid being put into a concentration camp.

The family fortunately escaped into Thailand. They lived in a refugee camp for a year, when they were finally able to make contact with Jane and Bob to ask for sponsorship.

The Grovers met them at the Portland Jetport in March 1980. After staying in an apartment at Bob and Jane's, the family moved to the Portland area.

The family consists of Thongphat, his wife Kham Vene, their children, Pakonkham, Vidavon, Viengkham, Enoy, and Thongphat's youngest brother Infeng.

Enoy, the youngest of the Vongsay family graduated from Westbrook High School this year, in the top ten of his class. He has joined the U.S. Navy to be an avionics electronics technician. He will see the world, take some college courses and will use his separation pay towards schooling after the Navy. While a senior in high school, he taught computer classes at Adult Education.

Kham Vene owns and operates her very successful Vientiane Market, where all the family work in their spare time. It is now known as "Eat and Take Out" located on Noyes Street in Portland. The new venture began the first of April, and has already proven itself to be a great success -- offering everything from soups, appetizers, fried rice, meats and vegetables to specials.

Once a month, she holds cooking classes teaching Chinese and Thai dishes, and has quite a following.

This family have not forgotten, and often speak of what the people of Bethel and surrounding towns did for them as they started out in America. They still marvel at what a lot of hard work can accomplish in this country. They all became American citizens as soon as was possible.

The Grovers have written a book about their experiences living and working in Laos for two years while a war was going on.

(The information for this article was provided by Jane Grover.)

When Buying Lens Solutions, Price Is Not the Most Important Consideration

(NU) - When you're shopping for a contact lens solution, experts say, be sure to look beyond the price tag. Choosing a lens solution just because it's the least expensive could not only leave you blurry-eyed, it could affect the performance of your lenses and irritate your eyes.

"The excellent performance and comfort offered by today's advanced contact lens materials and designs can be sabotaged by misusing eye care solutions," says Dr. Keith Ames, O.D. "Moreover, switching solutions could lead to serious eye irritation or complications."

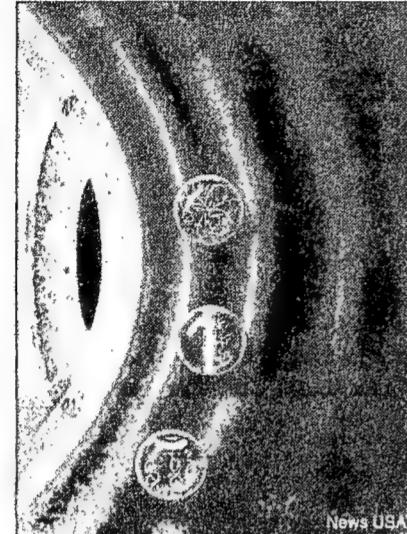

Here's some advice from Ames.

- Remember that contact lenses are made from a variety of materials. Not all solutions clean and condition these materials the same way.

- Keep in mind that contacts are more than cosmetic accessories - they're really medical devices to improve your vision.

It's important to follow the eye care system your doctor recommends for your specific lens type. Taking proper care of your lenses is key to clear vision, healthy eyes and comfort.

- Don't assume that all contact

Some lens solutions can actually help cause eye discomfort.
Ask your doctor about the latest advances.

lens solutions achieve the same results. While all are approved by the Food and Drug Administration as medical devices, some generic or store brand solutions contain the preservative Benzalkonium Chloride

BAK-preserved solutions tend to stick to the lenses, causing dry spots that can make the lenses uncomfortable.

A well-balanced preservative system in a contact lens solution will help destroy harmful organisms and promote ocular health without irritating the eyes or causing discomfort.

If your lenses do cause discomfort, contact your doctor.

- Rather than experimenting with solutions, ask your doctor during your annual eye checkup about the latest advances in contact lens materials and eye care solutions.

Remember, your eyes are living, breathing tissue. In fact, they're among the most delicate and sensitive tissues in your body.

Consumers may forget their doctors' advice on how to care for their type of contact lenses and opt to buy the store brand or lowest-priced lens solution.

But let the buyer beware. When you purchase contact lens solutions based on cost-comparison alone, you may be taking a risk with your eyes. The real bottom line is your eyesight.

Take Steps to Avoid the Woes of Toes

News USA

The American Podiatric Medical Association says toenail problems can be caused by improperly trimmed nails, shoe pressure and crowding of toes, repeated trauma to the feet from normal activities associated with work, sports, and other leisure-time and fitness pursuits, and heredity.

To help avoid the woes of toes, the APMA recommends the following:

- Trim toenails with toenail clippers straight across, slightly longer than the end of toes. Do not round off corners; this can cause ingrown toenails.
- After clipping, smooth nails with a file or emery board.
- Wear only proper fitting shoes.
- Wash feet regularly, especially between toes, and dry thoroughly.
- Avoid constrictive hose.
- Should problems arise or persist, consult a podiatric physician.

For more information on foot care, call the APMA at 1-800-FOOTCARE

Miniblinds Linked to Lead Exposure in Children

The Bethel Area Health Center

Recent reports linked the exposure of several lead poisoned children to imported non-glossy vinyl miniblinds. Lead poisoning is an illness caused by too much lead in the body. Lead has the potential to cause serious health effects in children.

These non-glossy, imported vinyl miniblinds have lead added to the plastic and may deteriorate when exposed to sunlight and heat, forming a thin layer of lead contaminated dust on the surface. This dust is dangerous to young children who come in contact with it by chewing on blinds or wiping their hands on blinds, picking up the dust particles and then putting their hands in their mouths.

If you have young children, it is recommended that you remove these imported miniblinds from the windows of your home. Washing the blinds does not prevent the plastic from deteriorating, which produces lead dust on the surface. Adults and families with older children generally do not need to remove the blinds.

New miniblinds without added lead are now available in stores. These miniblinds are labeled lead-free and sell in the same price range as the old blinds at about $5.00 to $10.00 each.

The Governor's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports

MAINERS AT RISK FOR CANCER, HEART DISEASE AND DIABETES DUE TO LACK OF EXERCISE

Augusta - "Mainers should use summer's days and cool evenings to take healthy walks and develop routine and low impact exercise patterns for all seasons", according to Dean Paterson, R.N., Chairperson, Governor King's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports.

This advice comes on the heels of the recently released Surgeon General's report on physical activity and health. The Surgeon General's report reviewed all current research on physical activity and health. It has the potential to start a new physical activity movement throughout the United States.

The Surgeon General's findings on inactivity mirror Maine studies, which indicated 87% of all Mainers do not engage in a regular and sustained pattern of physical activity, as measured by the Maine Statewide Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System. (Sustained activity is defined as 5+ times per week for up to 30 minutes, regardless of intensity). This survey is conducted annually by the Maine Bureau of Health.

Paterson notes, "Regular moderate physical activity provides wide benefits for most people who are not physically active. Active people reduce their risk of developing and dying from heart disease, diabetes, colon cancer and high blood pressure".

In addition, Paterson says, "One does not have to be training like an Olympic athlete to have the benefits of a healthy lifestyle. While physical inactivity is a serious statewide public health problem, it can be cured with a modest sustained activity like walking, bicycling and even gardening.

The Maine behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance Study recently found that 40.7% of all Mainers are physically inactive, 27.7% engage in irregular activity, 20.4% participate in regular activity and only 11.3% engage in regular and vigorous activity. Mainers are at risk for chronic disease due to inactivity.

Paterson concludes, "Increasing physical activity for all Mainers need to take place in our schools, workplace and communities throughout Maine. We don't need a Dream Team in every community in Maine, we need only to recognize that inactivity is a major health hazard and that modest amounts of moderately intense activity will provide major health benefits. The job of the Governor's Council will be to make exercise commonplace throughout Maine. We need to seize this moment and make fitness happen."

Dean Paterson is the manager of Health Education for Healthsource Maine, a managed care health provider serving Maine people and businesses.

NEWS

THE BENEFITS OF REGULAR PHYSICAL ACTIVITY

Source: The Surgeon General's Report on Physical Activity and Health

- Regular physical activity that is performed on most days of the week reduces the risk of developing and dying from some of the leading causes of illness and death in the United States. Regular physical activity improves health in the following ways:
- ◆ Reduces the risk of dying prematurely
  - ◆ Reduces the risk of developing heart disease
  - ◆ Reduces the risk of developing type II diabetes
  - ◆ Reduces the risk of developing high blood pressure
  - ◆ Helps reduce body fat in people who already have high blood pressure
  - ◆ Reduces the risk of developing colon cancer
  - ◆ Reduces feelings of depression and anxiety
  - ◆ Helps control weight
  - ◆ Helps build and maintain healthy bones, muscles, and joints
  - ◆ Helps older adults become stronger and better able to move about without fatigue
  - ◆ Promotes psychological well-being

Less Vigorous, More Time

- Washing and waxing a car for 45-60 minutes
Washing windows or floors for 45-60 minutes
Playing volleyball for 45 minutes
Playing touch football for 30-45 minutes
Gardening for 30-45 minutes
Wheeling self in wheelchair for 30-45 minutes
Walking 1 1/2 miles in 35 minutes (20 minute pace)
Basketball (shooting baskets) for 30 minutes
Bicycling 5 miles in 30 minutes

Roast Stuffed Cornish Hens

- 1 1/2 cups uncooked long grain and wild rice combination or 1 package wild rice mix, uncooked
2 tablespoons acceptable margarine*, melted
1 medium onion, chopped
1 teaspoon sage, thyme, savory or tarragon
Preheat oven to 350 F.

To make stuffing, cook rice until it is still slightly firm. Set aside. In a large skillet over medium-high heat, melt 2 tablespoons margarine. Add chopped onion and saute until browned. Add rice and sage or other herb; toss gently. Remove from heat and set aside.

Clean, rinse and dry hens. Stuff lightly with rice mixture. Skewer or sew cavities closed. Brush hens with 1/2 cup melted margarine and place breast-side up on a rack in a shallow pan.

Roast uncovered about 1 hour, basting occasionally with melted margarine. Remove hens from pan. Remove rice stuffing and place it in a serving bowl. Cut hens in half and place on warm serving platter.

Place roasting pan, with juices, on top of stove over medium-high heat. Add 1/2 cup water to drippings, stirring to dislodge browned particles from pan. Add brandy and orange sections. Cook 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Serve with hens.

*Select margarine with liquid oil as the first ingredient and no more than 2 gm of saturated fat per tablespoon.

airport taxi across what is now a gravel area, they often kick up rocks, denting the planes and potentially causing expensive damage to propellers.

Plans are also in the works to eventually light the runway.

"Skiers like to come up on Friday nights, but they can't now because there are no lights," said Ruzelletti.

Runway lights would also mean lights on area mountain peaks, to warn pilots away from them.

The $60,000 worth of improvements will be paid for through a combination of state grant and Bethel Airport Advisory Committee funds. No municipal funds are involved.

Despite the development, the airport may yet retain some of its small-town image.

Ruzelletti has seen moose on the runway, and he and a student pilot had a deer jump in front of them while they were taking off.

"I pulled up and scared the deer," Ruzelletti said.

Tips from the Prevent septic system failure. Many homeowners are under the misconception that a septic system, once installed, will work effectively only for an average of 15 to 20 years. To help protect against premature failure, the homeowner should review the following checklist.

Don't use a garbage disposal -- it adds 50 percent more solids to your system.

Don't pour automotive oil, cooking oil or grease down the drain.

Don't drive vehicles over the septic system or leach field.

Don't plant bushes or trees over the leach field.

Don't use phosphorous detergents.

Don't use too much water, especially during rainy, wet seasons when the ground is saturated.

Don't pour paint or paint thinner into your sink -- let it air dry and throw it in the trash.

Don't use drain cleaners or other toxic chemical products.

Don't use chemical or biological septic system cleaners which can plug up leach fields and ruin your system.

Don't wait -- if your septic system shows signs of problems, act immediately.

For clogged drains, use a plunger or mechanical snake. Or pour one handful of baking soda and one half cup white vinegar down drain pipe and cover tightly for one minute. Repeat as needed. Or pour one half cup salt and one half cup baking soda down the drain, followed by six cups of boiling water. Let sit for several hours or overnight, then flush with water.

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Many thanks to all the businesses in Main Street Place who hosted the August Business After Hours: Mt. Mann Jewelers, J.D. McConaughy, Mahoosuc Land Trust and Maine Street Realty.

It was a wonderful evening of fellowship and great food!

All members and friends are invited to September's Business After Hours, to be held on Monday, Sept. 9, from 5:30 - 7:30 p.m. at the Country Kids Academy on the Northwest Bethel Rd. Owner Brenda Lyon

Taylor welcomes everyone to see her great childcare facilities, which will be open seven days a week. Please come.

Welcome to our newest member of the chamber, Kezar Lake Marina, Lovell, owners Dave and Fran Conary

Members are reminded that we need to hear from them on their chamber brochure ads by Sept. 13. Respond early if you would like to request a specific space.

CLEARING THE GATEWAY-- Leslie Robertson bush hogs the margins of the Gateway property, now owned and managed by the Mahoosuc Land Trust. Robertson is preparing the field this week for replanting. The land trust, which purchased the 14-acre parcel last year, plans to maintain it as a hay field, providing a useful product and protecting the great view.

ASK A LAWYER

Several years ago I purchased a lot of land in Maine. At the time, I had the title searched by a lawyer and received a report that I had a good, marketable title. Recently, I sold the property. The buyer had the title searched and discovered trouble with the title. The bill for clearing the title was significant. Is this a typical occurrence and is there any way I might recover the costs incurred?

Fortunately, the situation you describe does not happen too often. The problem arises because of the difficulty in defining "marketable title." A title is marketable when it either contains no defects at all or only such defects as a reasonable buyer would accept with no reduction in the purchase price. For example, assume that someone was granted a lifetime lease of the property in 1846. If that lease has not been terminated on the record, it is a title defect. A reasonable person would admit, however, that a person who was alive in 1846 cannot still be alive today. Therefore, the title would be marketable even if this defect is not cleared.

The question of whether a defect needs to be cured is a matter of professional opinion, and different lawyers may have different opinions. The Maine State Bar Association has adopted the Standards of Title, which help lawyers decide whether certain defects are sufficient to make titles unmarketable and, if so, what kind of evidence might cure the defect. However, not all types of defects are covered by these standards.

In your case, the buyer's lawyer may have been too "picky," and so it may not have been necessary to clear the title. On the other hand, if your lawyer failed to report significant defects to you, you may be able to recover your damages in a malpractice action. Your lawyer will only be liable for failing to report defects which the average, competent practitioner would have found. If your buyer's lawyer found the defect only by chance or through unusual means, then your lawyer would not have committed any malpractice for failing to find the defect. You did not say whether your lawyer is aware of the situation. You should ask your lawyer to tell you, in writing, whether your lawyer agrees with the conclusions of your buyer's lawyer.

"Ask a Lawyer" is published in cooperation with this newspaper and the Maine State Bar Association. The views expressed in this column are those of the author. Lawyers answer questions on subjects of general interest. The column is meant as general information and should not be relied upon for advice in a specific case. For individual advice, consult your own attorney. If you do not have an attorney and you believe you need legal advice, contact the Maine Lawyer Referral and Information Service at 622-1460. This month's question was answered by John A. Cunningham, Esquire, of Brunswick. Attorney Cunningham is the Chair of Title Standards Committee of the Real Estate and Title Section of the Maine State Bar Association. If you have a question on a legal matter, please submit it in writing to: "Ask a Lawyer," C/O Maine State Bar Association, P.O. Box 788, Augusta, ME 04332-0788.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SALE

WHEREAS, on May 9, 1996, a Judgment of Foreclosure and Order of Sale was entered by the District Court, District Eleven, Division of Northern Oxford, in an action entitled Bethel Savings Bank, F.S.B. v. The Estate of William F. Wood, et al., under Dkt. No. Rum-95-CV-150, for the foreclosure of a certain mortgage given by William F. Wood to the Bethel Savings Bank, F.S.B., dated March 11, 1992, the mortgage being recorded in the Oxford County Registry of Deeds in Book 1877, Page 98, and,

WHEREAS, the statutory ninety (90) day redemption period has elapsed without redemption by the Defendants, their successors or assigns;

NOW THEREFORE, by order of and in execution of said Judgment of Foreclosure and Order of Sale, notice is hereby given that there will be sold at public sale at 10:00 AM on Tuesday, September 17, 1996, at the office of John S. Jenness, Jr., Esq., at 49 Market Square, South Paris, Maine all and singular the premises described in said Mortgage Deed to wit:

A certain tract or parcel of land in Upton, County of Oxford, State of Maine, with the buildings thereon and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at an iron pipe set in the west side of a private drive, 33.0 feet south of the centerline of Rte. 26, across the highway from the dwelling now or formerly of Horace Goodrum; thence on a bearing of South 36 degrees West a distance of 88.6 feet to an iron pipe and wood post; thence turning at an angle of 170 degrees 20 feet for a distance of 288.4 feet along an old wire fence; thence turning and running an angle of 175 degrees 46 feet a distance of 225.8 feet along an old wire fence; thence turning an angle of 175 degrees 46 feet for a distance of 225.5 feet along an old wire fence, thence turning an angle of 181 degrees 27 feet for a distance of 78.8 feet along an old wire fence above-mentioned private drive; thence turning an angle of 271 degrees and 17 feet and on a bearing of North 65 degrees 45 feet West for a distance of 215.9 feet along an old wire fence to an iron pipe near a small fir tree marked 1971; thence on a bearing of South 15 degrees West for a distance of 574.6 feet along a spotted line to a wood post and iron pipe set in stones near a large maple tree marked 1971, said wood post scribed on three sides as follows: R. Charron, R. Charron 1971; thence on a bearing of South 45 degrees West for a distance of 1010.0 feet to a wood post set in stone, said post scribed as follows: C.A. Judkins, A 1 Brown Co.; thence on a bearing of South 37 degrees 30 feet East for 316.2 feet along a line spotted and painted blue to an iron pipe; thence at an angle of 82 degrees 47 feet and on a bearing of North 44 degrees 45 feet East for a distance of 400.0 feet to an iron pipe in a field; thence on the same bearing for 155.7 feet to an iron pipe in a stone wall running westerly; thence on the same bearing of North 44 degrees 45 feet East for 344.3 feet to an iron pipe; thence on the same bearing for 55.0 feet to a stone wall running westerly at a total of 329.5 feet to an iron pipe; thence on the same bearing 131.4 feet to an iron pipe; thence on the same bearing 556.8 feet to an iron pipe 33.0 feet South of the centerline or Rte. 26, the total length of the above line being 2093.4 feet; thence turning at an angle of 105 degrees 55 inches and following the South side of Rte. 26 for 432.5 feet to an iron pipe; thence turning at an angle of 58 degrees 03 feet for a distance of 2000.0 feet to an iron pipe in a swamp; thence on a bearing North 30 degrees West for a distance of 100.0 feet to an iron pipe on the East side of a private drive; thence turning at an angle of 237 degrees 6 feet on a bearing of North 31 degrees East for a distance of 200.0 feet to an iron pipe on the South side of Route 26 and on the East side of a private drive; thence turning an angle of 122 degrees 04 feet for a distance of 42.5 feet to an iron pipe on the South side of Rte. 26, being the point of beginning, said parcel to contain 17.5 acres, more or less.

Meaning and Intending to describe and convey all and the same premises described in the deed of Robert A. Charron to Paul Theim and Carolyn Theim by warranty deed dated September 29, 1983, recorded at the Oxford County Registry of Deeds on October 30, 1984, at Volume 1286, Page 154.

Excepting and reserving however from the above described premises, a right-of-way for the benefit of the present owners of that parcel of land abutting the above-described premises along its southeasterly boundary and being a portion of those premises conveyed to Robert A. Charron by warranty deed of Lucien E. Charron and Robert H. Charron dated May 21, 1974, and recorded in the Oxford County Registry of Deeds in Book 822, Page 166, said right-of-way being further described as follows: along the private drive presently existing upon the above-described premises, which said private drive enters the above-described premises from Rte. 26 between the Northwesterlymost (sic) corner of the within described lot and the Northerlymost (sic) corner of that parcel of land now or formerly owned by Horace Goodrum (referenced above herein) and running therewith in a generally Southerly direction through the above described premises and turning and running in a generally Southeasterly direction past the Southwesterly side of the old house and barn and the Northwesterly side of an old foundation presently existing upon the above described premises, to and over the Southeasterly boundary of the above described premises. *

Being the same premises conveyed to William F. Wood by Warranty Deed of Paul Theim, et al., dated September 3, 1985, and recorded in the Oxford County Registry of Deeds in Book 1340, Page 71. Reference is made to a Mortgage Deed from William F. Wood to the Bethel Savings Bank, F.S.B., dated March 11, 1992, and recorded in said Registry Book 1877, Page 98. Excepting a reserving a parcel of land released by said Bethel

Savings Bank, F.S.B. by Release Deed dated October 1, 1993, and recorded in said Registry on Book 2057, Page 132.
